Movement Begins
To End Trade War,
Britain, Free StateBy GEORGE HAMILTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Behind the scenes at Geneva, talks are planned which, it is hoped, will end the economic "war" between the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State.

The war began a few years' duration when President Eamon De Valera refused to trade with Britain, and the British government, the United Kingdom, as guardian of the dominions, disallowed the Free State's right to import from the United Kingdom.

To recoup herself, she clapped special duties on imports from the United Kingdom.

For a while, William Aherant could not be reached to question whether he would be available to spend the weekend.

The date is expected to be finalized at a cabinet meeting scheduled for Monday.

As Bombs Blasted Death In Shanghai City

This hole, big enough to hide half a dozen men, was torn in the street in Shanghai's International Settlement when Chinese and Japanese war planes rained bombs and shells on the city. The scene above shows the settlement's busiest intersection, Avenue Edward VII and Tibet Road, where 382 persons were killed, among them three Americans. Hundreds were wounded as the shells fell, many of them from flying stone and pieces of concrete blasted out of the street, and from falling debris.

Italy Not Likely to Accept Franco-British Plan for Anti-Piracy Patrol Of

Mediterranean

GENEVA, Sept. 11.—The nine-power parity on piracy in the Mediterranean reached agreement tonight on methods for combating attacks on merchant shipping, apparently with the complete approval of Russia, whose charges of Italian responsibility had kept both Italy and Germany from the conference table.

ROME, Sept. 11.—Italian sources said today Italy will not accept the Franco-British plan for an "anti-piracy" patrol of the Mediterranean unless participating powers grant belligerent rights to the Spanish insurgent cause.

The sources said Italy could accept the patrol plan "in principle" but would require "some fundamental conditions" such as recognition of insurgent General Franco as a belligerent.

GENEVA, Sept. 11.—Great Britain threatened indirectly today to police Italy's share of the Mediterranean with its own naval forces unless Italy would take over the high seas.

Italy had refused to sign an agreement to help rid the high seas of submarine pirates.

Informants sources at the Nyon parity explained, however, that Britain had a good chance to win when he started this morning, carded 74 and was trailing at 210.

Dieguez, of Peschis, Mass., had 211. Guldahl, United States amateur, had 210.

Both players had a chance to reach the 18th hole.

is bound. They will turn to the party that promises to attack high interest rates, to the party that means—the Liberal party—unless the Liberal party is so foolish and decadent as to betray its plighted and enter into a political compact with Social Credit.

UNQUOTEING POLITICAL OUTRAGE

Mr. Cowper said that Liberals are true to their principles, and that if that office is not to be denied to them, the only opportunity it may give is to bring about progress and reform. He gave some account of what has been accomplished in recent years by government actions by Liberal principles.

NEAR BEEN LIBERALISM

Contrasting "true-blue" and "ne'er been" Liberalism, Mr. Cowper said: "We have been near being Liberals, there is no place for party lines in Alberta at the present time, but the party must enter into compact with other parties to effect the defeat of the Alberta government."

He placed a so-called "Business Government" comes a challenge to our intelligence and honesty of conviction.

As persons who are affected by the Alberta government, even in most recent support, must admit. The burning fault of every person who has given way, under pressure of the moment, is the only hope remains.

I have at this time, not have I done at a single instance at any length, the following: the Government—Conservative—should be held responsible for the highway probe sheet with the objection that the matter is still under investigation. Alberta has a person who believed that the government honestly intended to seek a solution, but that it was not followed before this important issue.

That the Alberta Government has not redressed the situation, even in most recent support, must admit. The burning fault of every person who has given way, under pressure of the moment, is the only hope remains.

I have at this time, not have I done at a single instance at any length, the following: the Government—Conservative—should be held responsible for the highway probe sheet with the objection that the matter is still under investigation. Alberta has a person who believed that the government honestly intended to seek a solution, but that it was not followed before this important issue.

As persons who are affected by the Alberta government, even in most recent support, must admit. The burning fault of every person who has given way, under pressure of the moment, is the only hope remains.

Our government is now on the verge of bankruptcy, and is forced to pay 12 percent interest.

They deny Alberta farmers 5 percent interest, and refuse to accept a single dollar of them. Instead of giving them a loan, they introduced it in its most crude form, so that a professed contribution to the Alberta government for highway construction, on the specific condition that half of all the money should be given to the men who were on relief, has been largely lost to the province.

So that the right of the government and so inevitable its end—unless by some miracle it can be stopped—will be to let Alberta will not waste time in exposing and denouncing it.

A LIBERTY PLANK

It would however, point out that the present government, which obtained office by falsely representing that it would not increase the payment of monthly dividends and for the issuance of interest-free loans, has now done the exact opposite by a fountain pen, after two years of expense, disorganization and disappearance of the Alberta government, the point where the Liberal party placed Social Credit in a 1934 contract.

It is now engaged in calling for the assistance of so-called experts from the outside, and you know that the Liberal party placed the following plank three or more years ago:

"Resolved: That the Liberal party pledges itself to write, retain, and use every means at its disposal to assist the most expert Social Credit advocates to carry on a full and frank discussion of the proposed scheme of Social Credit and to evolve and submit a plan which the Liberal party pledges itself to submit to the legislature for its adoption."

I venture to assert that that had the Liberal party, instead of the Social Credit party, been in power in Alberta in August, 1935, true Social Credit would be further ahead in Alberta than it is now, and Mr. Aberhart. It would have achieved this without the dislocation and disruption of the Alberta government, the efforts of the administration to make good Mr. Aberhart's most terrible record.

COLLAPSE COMING

As one who has followed the day-to-day endeavors of the government, and who has been a member of Social Credit authority in Canada a voluntary testimonial to his support of Social Credit, and the principles of Douglas Social Credit, I do not hesitate to affirm that the Alberta government is a complete failure. The Alberta government in Alberta is a spurious one, and rapidly heading toward collapse.

The session which will open in a few days will be an indication of the character of the Alberta government.

It does not appear to be generally known that the vital contention of Social Credit is that the producer must be regarded as the owner of his product. Douglas holds that producers produce for society, and society is entitled to make what disposition it deems best of the pro-present provincial Conservative leader, Mr. D. M. Duggan, when he was mayor of Edmonton in 1922, that the highest interest rates on real estate were paid.

One issue of bonds in Mayor Duggan's time was 10 per cent yield at which rate the citizens of Edmonton are still paying.

SUSPICIOUS VISIT

Alberta will well look with suspicion upon the recent visit of Mr. Multi-Millionaire Bennett to the Alberta Legislature. The Toronto Daily Star has cut out of the bag with its dispatch announces that he is here to "work for the purpose of organizing a coalition government in Alberta against Provincial government."

The dispatch went on to announce that "a proposal has been submitted to Mr. Bennett by Mr. Gray, leader of the Alberta government, to defeat the Alberta government. It is rapidly being worked out."

I predict that the Alberta government will split and stand divided.

Government commence to die in the minute they are born. Top-heavy government always tries to defeat its own purpose. The Alberta government will not have to defeat the Alberta government.

It is rapidly being worked out.

It is rapidly being worked out.</p

MINIMUM WAGE FOR MEN

Action by the Provincial Government to establish a minimum wage for men in Alberta is long overdue. Such action having been decided upon, it is to be hoped a minimum will be set which will be in keeping with that adopted in British Columbia, the enforcement of which has added many millions of dollars per year to the buying power of the wage-earners of that province.

A DOLLAR REASON

Homesteaders in the northern townships 70 south Alberta have been declared a saving conservation area. This takes in practically the whole of the cultivated area of the province with the exception of the Peace River and Grande Prairie districts. Within this area it is forbidden to hunt, trap, or otherwise damage any game, wild or old, the prohibition covering game of all descriptions within the last four years.

The reason of course is that in certain sections of Alberta winter feed for stock is certain to be scarce, while over a great part of Saskatchewan a feed shortage is already evident. The conservation of the general welfare aside, and viewed from the stand-point of the individual farmer—means those straw stacks may be strucken as others.

Watch, but don't worry; is a good working maxim for the time.

NO QUESTIONS ASKED

At the piracy conference, according to a London dispatch, it was decided beforehand there would be "no attempt made to decide who is responsible for the pirates that have been captured and freed, damaged or destroyed the lives of several seamen of many nations." The conference, that is to say, would content itself with drawing up rules and obtaining promises of adherence to them, without entering delicate questions of the details of the capture and treatment for the pirates or their government sponsors.

It is pertinent to recall that last November a peace-terms paper was signed in London, laying down certain regulations for the operation of submarine.

These regulations are as follows:

FA AND MA SWALLOW

An answer to the question, "What is my share on my back porch for a half hour in the morning watching a nest of half-grown tree swallows under the eaves of my garage. In that period Fa and Ma Swallow together made 36 trips to the nest with food for the young. The young ones had eaten the same game of the wife and husband as they do and they maintain their service hour upon hour and day after day. When the family leaves home the parent swallows have earned their winter in the south."—Ottawa Journal.

"Don't let your patriotism be so narrow that you count your own country as the only people on the beach."—Lord Baden-Powell.

"Today the nation is like a friendly household; it must keep careful accounts and know where it is going."—Salvador de Madariaga.

"In their action with regard to merchant ships submarines must conform to the rules of International Law to which surface vessels are subject."

"In particular, except in case of persistent refusal to stop on being summoned or of active resistance to visit or search, a warship, whether surface vessel or submarine, may not sink or render incapable of navigation a merchant vessel within 100 miles of the coast, unless the vessel and ship's papers in a place of safety. For this purpose the ship's boats are not regarded as a place of safety unless the safety of passengers and crew is assured. In the existing sea and weather conditions by the proximity of land, or the presence of vessels which are in a position to take them on board."

This agreement was signed by duly accredited representatives of the United States, Australia,

United Kingdom, India, Italy, Japan, New Zealand and South Africa.

What of these countries was it known or feared would be embarrassed if an attempt were to be made at the conference to identify the owners of the piratical craft? And if to one of the signatories these pledges meant nothing, how much more would the others? "The pirates are bound to be won over." A conference bartered beforehand from asking who the pirates are surely exemplified diplomatic politeness to the nth degree, but it was not a very hopeful-looking plan as an extinguisher of piracy.

Passing Show

By J. S. COPPER

Another five weeks and all the Rotary Clubs in Germany will have disbanded. They are busy now eating up the last of the ham and salad, and the apple pie is a far off coffee that forms the gastronomic picture of Rotaract in my land. A kink has developed in the sprocket wheel; the rotary device has been thrown out of balance and can rotate no longer in Germany, and our Hitler disappears into the limbo of eventualities.

Rotary in Germany had its need of good work, it has in all other countries. It gave business men a chance to meet and talk each other as "Frinds" in fact. It gave the German people a chance to meet and talk each other as "Frinds" in fact. It gave the German people a chance to receive and swap ideas and good fellowship. It acted as a big brother to the underprivileged and shed a halo of good cheer around.

It was a good brother to the Nazi. Germany.

Over there, ideas are dangerous things to swap and propagate. Good cheer is not desired. The big brother shall be the state. Rotary in Germany breaks the first of the Hitlerian commandments—"Thou shall not have other gods before me." And the group that do not conform to the ideals of the Nazi state, all Rotary Clubs are ordered to disband and forget themselves by October 18. Hell Hitler!

These Rotarians are well-advised to disband. Proof of guilt is not needed to send a man to life imprisonment or the headman's block in Germany.

During an election clash at Altona in Schleswig-Holstein, when the Nazis marched 10,000 men, singing provocative songs through the workers' quarter, 15 workers and 2 Nazis were shot. No prosecutions were started over the shooting of the 15 workers, but the resources of the State were used to arrest and prosecute the 2 Nazis for the killing of the two Nazis. In all 71 persons were accused. Of these four anti-Fascists were executed and the remainder (some one) were sent to prison for a total of 236 years. Here are two paragraphs from the address of the State Prosecutor in asking for verdicts where there was no evidence of guilt:

"Whether the individual did or did not shoot does not matter. It is sufficient that, as a member of his union, he was present in Altona and was ready to take part in the struggle."

"The leaders of the group, even though they were not in the front of the struggle, and did not themselves shoot, have rendered guilty of actual murder for they do the same thing as those who fired the shots and were responsible also as leaders."

That comes pretty close to the ideal of the Prohibitionists, who like to call a cop and arrest any man who wears a pleased expression, on the theory that he must be thinking of beer.

To remain a member of a Rotary Club under the Nazi ban would be proof of murderous intent.

Can you trace a similarity between the bombing and the shooting of naval crews by Italian government agents and the murder by Facists of the Roselli brothers in France on June 2 of last year?

Carlo Roselli, a former lieutenant in the Italian army and an anti-Fascist, was a thorn in the side of Mussolini. He was captured and gassed in 1926 and was later released. He was given a full share of the anti-Fascist cause and he was given a full share of the power and that he is entitled to a fair portion of the increased income from the products of his union. He was given a full share of the remuneration for a fair day's work should constitute a fair living wage.

With Labor, however, the matter is not so easy or clear, and perhaps the most important of the fact that the violence has never been directed by both parties with an honest desire to be perfectly fair to each other, that the question still remains the world's greatest problem.

Today, however, there is a definite feeling among those who think war has a full share of the blame, even though they themselves have not been the ones to do it.

The leaders of the group, even though they were not in the front of the struggle, and did not themselves shoot, have rendered guilty of actual murder for they do the same thing as those who fired the shots and were responsible also as leaders."

Sandy's Coming
Hold Everything!

Social Notes

SANDY SOMERVILLE will display his golfing wares in Edmonton on Monday afternoon. Announcement of this tidbit for the city's golf connoisseurs was made last night by W. H. Stevens, Edmonton manager for the London Life, from whom the golfing information was received. Reporters know Somerville would be going through here on his way back home for Jasper. Mr. Stevens got the idea of having him stop off and play a round of golf with some of Edmonton's top-notchers for the benefit of the hundreds here who would like to see Canada's amateur champion in action.

Somerville generously accepted the invitation. He will play an 18-hole round at Mayfair on Monday starting at 2:30 p.m. It will be a foursome with Henry Mariel, Bubbie Practor and "Whit" Matthews. All wishing to see this exhibition are cordially invited.

Hurricane Warnings! It's Coming!

THINGS are in a terrible state in the office these days. Mystery is as thick you could cut it with a heel. And the hustings and bustlings! Honestly it's appalling. Nobody has any time to answer letters about sales, men, salaried. You ask me to do a few things and the next thing the last word is out of your mouth. The guy is probably at his feet and of the shop in an earnest conference. And that's awful to think of a pipe-smoker who needs a match once in a while—yeh, you heard me Joe O'Brien.

After much pondering, we decide maybe the rest of the boys are holding out on us, we put the two on a couple as they whiz through the office. "Maybe if you guys find you're running a few seconds ahead of schedule you could sort of give a general forecast as to what, when, where and why this is all about," we suggest gently.

Phil Danis never breaks step, he charges into the composing room under a full load of steaming coffee, a pipe in his mouth, he's got the plumbest of tempers. Phil's the damndest fellow that way. Right to the point. Just six words and the whole thing is explained. It took H. G. Wells a couple thousand pages to explain what history was all about, but I'll bet Phil could do it in a half column anyway. It's a gift, that's what it is.

Tom is Really Explicit

THE next charge through the news room is led by Tom Dwan. This time we take no chances and place ourselves squarely in his path with a wicked pair of scissored pointed at him. "Now please," we beg, "what's it all about? What's this sport even that's got a bunch of hard-boiled newswomen as excited as a bunch of college boys?"

Tom isn't like this Danis fellow. He's really explicit and goes into details.

"It's simply breathtaking," he explains. "If you think you've seen sport with fan interest, wait until you get a load of this. Listen, every man, woman and child in central and northern Alberta will be playing it in a couple of weeks. It doesn't require any special equipment or training—dresses or anything. Kiddies, men and grandmothers can all get in on it. What's more, it will get out of your eyes. It will knock your eyes out. It will take the practice of a lifetime to learn it."

The impetuous fire of the man staggers us. We lower the scissored and try to shake it off.

"The second comes with a galloping snap on the back, and he too vanishes into the bowels of the composing room.

A plain ordinary guy can only stand so much, so with a square of de-light we grabbed a sheet of paper and proceeded to carve out the cutest bunch of little dolls you ever saw. You simply must come up and see them sometime!

Notes You Should Know

SUNDAY afternoon will see Jim Mounfield and Doug Kilburn stage their third defense of the Edmonton challenge golf trophy at the Country Club with starting time at 2:30 p.m. The challengers are from the Royal Canadian, Royal Mustang and Tommy Vickers who have been shooting some smart golf.

Last night Freddie Goburn and Mickey McGuire arrived back in the city from a futile tour that took them to Seattle, Spokane, and eastward toward the Dakotas. 300 miles of bad roads and bumpy roads were the way out with Houstek at Seattle, but Fred has made arrangements for a number of nights during the fall and winter season that promise to give Mickey a chance to battle his way into the big time.

C.A.H.A. Comes To Help of Saskatchewan Hockey

To Permit Six Imports Instead of Four — Draft Effect

Appeals of Saskatchewan hockey clubs have fallen on sympathetic ears and the Canadian Amateur Hockey association is responding with special rulings to meet the present importation problem existing in the adjoining province. This was made known through an official statement by Dr. W. G. Hardy, first vice-president of the C. A. H. A.

Many of the Saskatchewan clubs have been weakened as a result of importations. This migration is believed to be a direct effect of the draft system. Similarly, the British Columbia, Dominion Allan cup finalists last year, have been especially hard hit.

Hardy's statement follows: "The C. A. H. A. after considering the situation created in Saskatchewan by the fact that clubs have suggested to the Saskatchewan Amateur Hockey association that for this year only all senior clubs should be allowed to import, has decided to import six players instead of four with the proviso that two more may be imported if the clubs concerned are willing to import from outside the branch. Similarly, in Saskatchewan, instead of the three clubs that are permitted to import four players from anywhere in Canada up to Oct. 15.

JASPER PARK LODGE, Sept. 11.—It's an all-star final for the famous Totem Pole golf trophy this year and this is the first time in the history of the game or even in history that it has happened. Somerville was in grand form again, but Dr. Spiegel, who started well, "lightened up" after the usual display of easy golf.

Somerville went out in 37 and Dr. Spiegel in 41. The final was won by 40. Somerville took the long 16th with a par, but Spiegel took the short 17th with a double bogey. He then took the short 12th and long 18th with pars and had a 72. Dr. Spiegel had a 73. Somerville walked over to shake hands and concede victory.

Dr. Spiegel, amateur champion, Mrs. R. C. Field, Victoria, was victorious over Mrs. J. S. Brooker, Vancouver.

"LOCO" ANIMALS,
AFTER EATING PECULIARLY FOR SOME MONTHS, USUALLY DIE.

Why the elephant waves his ears back and forth continually has been a mystery to the naturalists for years. Now it has been discovered that with the many blood vessels act as a thermometer. By waving them back and forth, the animal draws air over them to lessen his body heat.

KEITH FLATLY CONTRADICTS MR. FALLOW

Roads Probe Concluded — Findings Are Expected Within 10 Days

Mr. Royal Commission inquiry into the construction of roads in the Edmonton-Millar and Nisku River Creek highway projects concluded yesterday after hearings lasting three weeks. It is expected the commissioner, Mr. Justice J. A. Fallow, will present his findings to the provincial government within the next ten days.

Blame for high construction costs, and for the proposed failure to earn a reported sum of $100,000 in highway grants made by the federal government, was placed by Hon. W. P. MacLennan, minister of public works, on former deputy minister of public works and former highway commissioner, C. A. Davison.

HE DIDN'T KNOW

The minister said he had instructed Mr. Keith to see that the relief clause provisions of the federal highway grants were carried out. This was not done, he stated, as it was not until some time later that he became aware of his instructions were not being carried out.

In rebuttal, Mr. Keith swore he had not been instructed by the minister to see that the relief clause provisions were carried out, and that he had no knowledge there were relief clause provisions in the grants. He produced a copy of the agreement from Ottawa in the middle of July. He said he had been informed by the minister, when informed, that the grants were to be used for highway construction, that there were no relief labor standards in the grants.

Despite the fact he had ever received a list of persons on relief in Alberta eligible for work under the Depression relief program, he said, he was made by Mr. MacLennan.

NEVER SAW ANY LIST

"I never saw or knew of the existence of any list," he stated. "When it became necessary to check up names of persons employed on the highway grants, I was told that they could not be made available. The minister, federal relief agency, had no staff for a considerable time to make up the list. If a list was available, I was not told of it, and it would have been a very easy matter to make that check," stated Mr. Keith.

He also stated Mr. Fallow never made a specific request for a program to be carried out on the work on the Edmonton-Millar or the St. Albert Creek projects.

REPORTS MADE

Progress reports were made regularly by the engineer, and it would have been a simple matter to get these names from the treasury department, stated Mr. Keith earlier in the hearing. He said he had requested these progress and cost reports from the treasury department, but he was informed they were not available.

Questioned by Commissioner Fallow, Mr. Keith said he had been informed by the minister of education that the result of negotiations with the government for general assumption of the responsibility of the department, which his machinery was being used, it was the minister's view that the department was such a small part of the government, he stated.

Mr. Keith did not know Mr. MacLennan was a general foreman, and he was not sure of the appointment until he had read of the appointment in the paper. He was never requested to make up the list, he was told, by the minister, who was responsible for the placement of public works.

Concerning the man-made dam of Hon. Mr. Fallow, Mr. MacLennan advised him, if it was unable to be repaired, it should be demolished. In the light of publicity as to the nothing to hide, why he had claimed it was not possible to repair, between himself and the federal minister of public works, Hon. Norman McRae.

"I am claiming it because of my own office," replied Mr. Fallow.

"Are you not claiming it because you do not wish the people of the province to know that you are not able to repair it?" asked the minister.

"I am not claiming it because I fully live up to my word," said Mr. Fallow.

He admitted that was no responsibility of the provincial or federal highway department to repair or agree to an unequalized statement of compensation with the federal labor agreement.

Did you ever tell the Premier that the terms of the agreement had been fully carried out?" asked Mr. McLean.

"In the premie's I had fully lived up to my word," said Mr. Fallow.

He admitted that was no responsibility of the provincial or federal highway department to repair or agree to an unequalized statement of compensation with the federal labor agreement.

"I am surprised by the wife, and two other wives, of the members of the Alberta Legislature, who are living today after an illness of nine months," said Mr. McLean.

He was born in Scotland in 1889, and had been a carpenter, man on the street, railway man, but during recent years was a carpenter in his home, broke down in his 70th year.

He is survived by his wife, and two other wives, all in Edmonton, and one sister, Mrs. B. Sutherland, in Avon, Ontario.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the chapel of the Royal Canadian Legion, 1020 Rossdale, with officiating, and interment will take place in the Edmonton cemetery.

Andy Will Wed His Madam Queen Today

The house that the "open air taxicab company" built which bears the name for the palatial home in the suburbs, was built by Charles Correll, son of Andy, of the famous Amos and Andy radio team, and his bride, left, former dancer whom he wed this week in Hollywood. The couple bought their proposed home, met years ago in Chicago when Correll was a booking agent and Miss McLaughlin was appearing in vaudeville.
